MEET NIKOTRIS

Nikotris Perkins, a proud native of Milwaukee, WI, is a consultant and coach steadfast in helping create a more equitable society. Her signature talks, training sessions and workshops increase innovation, inclusivity, and impact, as a pathway to our collective liberation. Grounded in history while focusing on the present and future, Nikotris offers best practices, promising guidelines and research based options that welcome all identities.

Intentional about remaining abreast of the newest information centered around diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI), Nikotris is an avid reader and active researcher. In fact, over the last 20 years, Nikotris has worked with individuals, communities, and institutions, nationally and globally, to create safe spaces that value all voices. In booking Nikotris, leaders and organizations exclaim they are able to shift institutionalized behavior that often-times devalues the voice and experiences of systemically oppressed people. Additionally, she is currently finishing her doctoral degree in Urban Studies at UW-Milwaukee focused on practices of Beloved Community,

Whether facilitating a workshop, providing training or delivering one of her signature talks, Nikotris is able to help institutions develop organization-wide key performance indicators as an integral part of embedding equity into culture, and ensuring progress is being made without apology.

Nikotris Perkins is a proven leader and a true advocate for Black people, demanding consistent self reflection and vulnerable accountability from everyone including herself. Dedicated to together, she believes we can correct mistakes corporately, and take bold actions to develop better leaders and ambassadors for tomorrow.

"Nikotris Perkins beautifully takes our program initiatives and designs rich workshops that challenge students, encouraging them to respect differences in others, honor their own personal well-being and practice thoughtful engagements with others."
